

When אַבְרָהָם was old, he set his servant Eliezer back to the land of his birth, Haran, to find a wife for his son יִצְחָק. It was a long journey. When Eliezer arrived in Haran, he saw a young woman filling her water pitcher at the town well. Eliezer asked her for some water. She said, “Drink, and I will give your camels water also.” Her name was רַבְקָה. Because of her kindness, Eliezer knew she would be the right wife for יִצְחָק.

The camels below are thirsty. Give them Hebrew-word-water from the jugs below by taking words and writing them in Hebrew on the camels with the matching sun hats. Use page 4 of your module.
